FORWARD

This book contains the individual's collective stories of suitable and non-beneficial situation of Love and sex relationships.

As each and every moment, someone is being hurt by the wreckage deadly wings of Love, whilst at the same time, someone is enjoying the best by-product of the sweet melody of the wings of Love. I am compelled to bring the true collective stories out as a healing medicine and a saviour when someone is bored, at the point of committing suicide.

This lovely book will be of much help and very useful to consolidate yourself in comparing with other stories to pick up the broken pieces of yourself through sorrows to cheer up and build self-confidence in life.

Perhaps who knows, may be an Angel of Love is awaiting you at the next corner with an open arm within the breezy mystery wings of love. What we should remember is that, once you are destroyed by someone because of love, after your destruction, you will be the most stupid fool.

Human beings are like butterflies. When the sweet taste of a flower is tasteless, it abandons it and flies to a new flower that suits its taste.

Once you kill yourself because of someone mishandling you in your love affairs, after your burial, there would be millions of beautiful ladies or handsome gentlemen competing for your place. Then, who is the loser? Definitely, you are the loser.

When all persuasions fail in Love and sex relationships, and hatred replaces the love, it is better to abandon the relationship. You only need the necessary time to recover and maintain yourself. Definitely, someone special who will dance to your taste in love and sex relationship will be presented to you by Nature.

Always bear in mind that, whenever life smiles to you, all things are possible.

Kwabena Osei.

INTRODUCTION

The Power of Love supersedes everything in Creation. It is the driving mechanism that let the world go around. It can penetrate, enhance, change and transform everything to light.

Love is the Ultimate Power. It is so vast that man falls short to it. Man cannot possess Love, control Love, buy Love and neither can command Love. All that we need is to dance in the rhythm of love when it knocks at our closet. There is nothing so valuable that man can give to others than Love.

It is the pride of the Supreme power behind the creation to see human beings engaged in unconditional love in their sex and love relationships. He who created man and woman, and through his plural excellence of Wisdom, created sex and love as perfect finishing touches will reward faultless unification of relationship with the spiritual Garden of Eden.

The power behind Creations opens the floodgates with enormous showers of blessings, pleasure, everlasting prosperity and flawless peace. These advantages have eluded many of those who use the mind and selfish games of lust in engaging in love and sex relationships.

Love and sex have two faces; loving someone by his deeds, dignity, and wealth or by sympathy. This may be a miscalculation of the mind and the Ego's game.

When all that is your cornerstone for loving fades away, you will be totally empty. There will be no remains of love in you. And to look at the face of a blameless man or an innocent woman with whom to go to bed for selfish interest with a hidden agenda is an act of torture and murder. The mind with its ego's love is based on reasons, logics, guarantees of gains and wants.

If, somebody knows the reasons why he or she is in Love with someone, then, that Love is with the mind. The mind promises much, but delivers nothing. Those who love with the mind do not know the difference between the false and the true love in the sex games.

A pure and unconditional love from the heart finds no logic and reason why you are in Love with someone. That is the mystery cord and the bond of Love. It is a real and natural love, which comes purely from the innocent Soul. Just swim through the ocean of an unconditional Love.

A perfect Love is similar to blindness which recognizes nothing of beauty or ugliness. Loving with the Heart is the gateway to discover the Power of Love. Let the sweet melody of the love song reign supreme when you board the Love spaceship, and finally, you will explore the mystery and the unseen planet of Love that most people fail to discover.

The power of Love conquers all.

CHAPTER ONE

LOVE AND WISDOM

Self-destruction is the result of hatred, whilst loving unconditionally gives life and a broader inner peace. Every wise man knows that love is all that man has to give to the world.

To make life easier for everyone is to love unconditionally. Only fools and evil men choose to live by selfishness and hatred, but unquestionably, in the end, they see the reward before they give up to the ghost of death.

Hatred reduces the light in you. Once your light is dimmed, you become vulnerable to be manipulated by negativity. When anger or hatred takes the place of love, you automatically lose the connectedness with the great universal light. This is the signification of losing connectedness with the Supreme Being.

Hatred is a defence wall of fears that we build against someone who we consider to be a potential enemy. Hating somebody is an act of fear towards that person. To be afraid of someone is to surrender to be controlled by him. And to be afraid of something is to surrender to it completely.

Thus, to hate is a self-defeat in disguise. Hatred is a cover cloth to our vulnerability. It is also our shortcoming and failure to confront the reality. Those who use hatred as a barricade to someone they consider as potential enemy are all cowards. Those natural people who love their physical enemies unconditionally deserve more consideration than war heroes. People with abundance of love and inner light are capable of defeating their physical enemies through an unconditional love. To gain access to the mysterious power of love to conquer your enemies is to love them unconditionally.

Once love and light is flowing through your veins with an open mind, any spiritual weapon aimed at you for your destruction becomes powerless. Darkness cannot comprehend light. Light is the great combatant force to darkness. And Love is the twin brother of light.

When a physical enemy is being confronted with love and an open heart, you can eliminate his evil influences on you. He can only succeed to manipulate you, when he is able to turn your love into hatred. As a result, you will become vulnerable for his influences and manipulations.

When lovers are together with a perfect understanding, nothing hidden from each other with an unconditional love, their inner world and surroundings will be full of light and love.

Love and light have a mysterious magnetic energy that constantly attracts miracles. If you dream of touching the sky above you, and you find it difficult, just relax, and then cling to the mysterious power of love. You will surprisingly find yourself dancing with the stars above you.

All that we need to create miracles in our daily lives is an unconditional love. When two souls come together in the name of love, impossibilities become possibilities. It is priceless to love unconditionally, but what we gain from it is valuable than riches. In contrast, there is a higher price to be paid by those who live with hatred. Both hatred and love have different magnetic spiritual attractions. Hatred attracts and draws darkness. Darkness finally chains you down. Mass destruction to humanity and self destruction are the consequences.

Love always attracts light. Light in this context means creativity. It upgrades the individual living conditions and brings joy and prosperity. Everybody has his own free will. You can live with love and become a living Saint tomorrow or live with hatred to become the Devil. The question is choosing to become a Saint or a Devil tomorrow and enjoying the benefit of it.

When evil conceives, it gives birth to terrifying monsters. These monsters grow to eat people alive on the street. In the end, they swallow up the evil that gave birth to them. When goodness conceives, it gives birth to a perfect peace and everlasting prosperity. And the benefit of it cannot be overemphasized.

The ignorant souls suppose that, he know much and lacking nothing. They keep on disregarding and rejecting any knowledge and understanding. Fools know that, they are the wisest, full of pride and very boastful. These categories of people cannot distinguish between fear and respect. They are really inconsistent.

They talk about love in a different language to manipulate innocent souls. They speak of praises and love, but deep in their heart, there is no love. They love with their mind, and full of selfish interest. They miss the understanding of life and the value of love.

The older they grow, the more exposed is their ignorance. They have the “quality” of marrying two times the same kind of woman. They keep on repeating the same mistakes.

The sages know that, the wiser a person becomes the more silent he becomes. Additionally he finds himself in the state of nothingness. These sorts of men are very humble with respect to embrace those who show them love and kindness. Without any discrimination, they consider every person that they meet as their mentor. They learn every day. They are very grateful and they always accept in silence anything that comes on their path as a lesson. Later on, they evaluate in their closet all that they have learnt. Then, they decide for themselves, what can be of their interest to accumulate wisdom.

We can be masters of all fields through patience and silence. Learning with patience and silence is the process of experiencing life and its mysteries. If you refuse to learn, Nature forces you to a situation in life which is disastrous. The only alternative choice is to get out of ignorance by learning.

Let love be your armour and shield and you will always be undefeated in the strange wars waged against you by the enemy forces. Love is the breath of life. Without love, there is no life.

Life can be full of joy and the earth can be as it is in heaven, if the human race embraces a perfect, natural, and unconditional love for one another.

We can also eliminate hatred, selfishness and greed, the master of all evil from our midst, if we maintain our innocence in whatever that we do. Love is what creates miracles. The mighty God of Creation restores his mighty Power on Love.

Love is the ultimate solution to everything. Love is the remedy of all illnesses including death. Love removes the obstacles of life and walls of fear built around us by the ego.

A peaceful love and sex relationship can be achieved through a real love from both lovers' heart. The by-product of true and unconditional love of lovers is everlasting joy and pleasure. "It is difficult for a Camel to pass through a hole of a needle." Likewise, it is difficult to find pleasure in love and sex relationship with the mind. Even, if peradventure, there is any pleasure, it will be just a short-lived. It will be agonies and misery in the end of the 'false love.'

We can dethrone the devil and its dictates from our midst for a perfect peace and everlasting prosperity only through an unconditional love. With silence, patience and unconditional love, Mother Nature makes sure to lead and safeguard us to our noblest destiny.

We can acclaim a limitless natural power through the power of love. Love unconditionally and you will always discover pleasure in Love. Hatred is imprisonment by darkness. Just free your mind from hating people. Jealousy and hatred is what mainly deprives us from achieving our purpose in life. Hatred and jealousy are associated to negativity. Their main objective is to enslave and divide people.

Love is total liberation and freedom under the sunshine.
